Join live as we venture into uncharted topic territory Coming soon: Nutrition & eating disorders

Don't miss this truly multidisciplinary webinar on the important topic of eating disorders!

Gastroenterologist and Professor of Nutrition Pierre Dechelotte (France) and Psychiatrist Frederico Duarte Garcia (Brazil) have worked and published together at the intersection of nutrition, neurogastroenterology, psychiatry and functional gastroenterology.

Learn what to watch out for when patients present in gastroenterology clinics with GI symptoms, how to screen for eating disorders and how they may relate to functional disorders in this interactive UEG webinar chaired by Gastroenterologist Klaartje Bel Kok.

This is the first UEG webinar focused on eating disorders, and we recommend it to gastroenterologists, dietitians, clinical nurse specialists, eating disorder specialists, and nutrition specialists alike.

Our experts look forward to answering your questions as you raise them in real-time on Thursday, February 24, 2022, 18:30 – 19:30 CET. This educational activity is freely available for all myUEG Associates. (Not yet an Associate? Become one today!)

Mistakes in dietary management of IBS & how to avoid them

Our first Mistakes in... article for 2022 tackles the management of patients with IBS via dietary interventions. The authors highlight the importance of taking the patient's expectations into account and setting realistic treatment goals. They also cover the pitfalls of using immunological tests and breath tests in this setting, and consider the impact of various exclusion diets. In dietary counselling, it is preferable to start from a healthy balanced diet, and then select a personalised approach based on local availability of expertise and patient preference.
