

From inspirational talks to down to earth grant application advice, UEG Week Virtual 2021 had a lot to offer for researchers.

Horizon Europe: It's time to apply!

If you have a look at the EU Funding & Tender Platform you noticed that there is a lot of calls open for submission. From the Health Cluster, ERC and MSCA, to the Widening programme for (mainly) Central & Eastern European researchers: Horizon Europe has a lot to offer, and we've got you covered!

Marcis Leja, Board Member of the Mission on Cancer, detailed in an insightful session together with experienced European project managers how to make the most out of Horizon if you come from – and want to collaborate with – a Widening Country.

Several EU officials also presented part of the Horizon Europe programme with a focus on GI:

- Willing to advance in your translational research? Learn more about the new Innovative Health Initiative: Opportunity for public-private collaborations
- Not residing in Europe? There are still opportunities for you
- Excited about the aim of the Mission on Cancer to improve the lives of more than 3 million people by 2030? Marcis details the interesting areas for GI.

Research is more than a job, it's a lifestyle.

Do you agree with this sentence? Our panel of high-level researchers featuring this year's Research Prize awardee Dirk Haller as well as Tamara Budnik and Silvio Danese, and chaired by Research Committee Chair Luigi Ricciardiello discussed about their views and experiences on how to be a successful researcher and their vision for the future of Research.
