Dear friends & colleagues,

Have you downloaded our GI Guidelines App yet?

If you haven't yet downloaded our app, I encourage you to join the almost 20,000 individuals who are using this very successful, practical multidisciplinary free interactive tool. You can find new guidelines in a very unique format. You get to answer all your practical questions in few clicks. Check the interactive algorithms, calculators and summaries. You will definitely benefit from having it in your pocket for everyday use.

The taskforce made a great effort to include as many guidelines as possible in the app. The Endoscopic diagnosis and management of nonvariceal upper gastrointestinal hemorrhage (NVUGIH): European Society of Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ESGE) Guideline – Update 2021 has just been added two weeks ago, and new guidelines will be added constantly.

In line with the subject of guideline implementation, I encourage you to read my UEG Journal article which covers, development, collaboration, and more, How to get new guidelines in United European Gastroenterology: Follow the gold!

I'm proud to be a myUEG Associate. Join the myUEG Community now – it's free!

The year 2022 started wonderfully with the launch of a great initiative of the myUEG Community. It is a free opportunity to be part of the big UEG family and become a myUEG Associate. These pandemic years made it difficult to connect and interact with peers and colleagues. Therefore, the My Connect tool (available for free to all myUEG Associates) offers large networking possibilities to be in touch with Associates from all over the world, different GI specialities and interest groups. It can be helpful to start new research projects or develop new educational tools or create new guidelines or simply to make new contacts for training and collaboration or job opportunities.

I'm delighted to be active on My Connect. Check out my profile and connect with me!

Is your Activity Grant application ready?

It's also my pleasure to announce that the UEG Activity Grant call for new guideline development is open until April 29, 2022.

Don't miss out on a unique opportunity to get up to € 40,000 to create a new guideline especially in GI gap areas. The taskforce encourages all projects especially collaborative multidisciplinary ones, involving experts but also young GIs.

This Activity Grant scheme has been successful the past years and allowed the development of several new guidelines. You can find all the documents online for free on UEG Journal website.
