

UEG Week Virtual 2021 - what a great adventure

While the live congress days of UEG Week Virtual 2021 may have ended, you are still invited and encouraged to explore our wide array of UEG Week on-demand recording packages. They allow for immediate video access and are available for purchase at attractive rates.

We were pleased to be able to invite our myUEG community to once again meet, exchange and evolve virtually via the best gastroenterology congress in the world. UEG represents an essential international and diverse community of people coming together, talking to each other, connecting and sharing ideas, knowledge and science.

Another day packed with scientific excellence

Tuesday represented the grand finale in terms of scientific offering for our delegates with plenty of abstract-based sessions and breaking science. First of all watch the UEG Week Digested session from Tuesday that represents a summary of the previous congress day on Youtube!

Live endoscopy demonstrations from leading surgeons featured, where exciting procedures were streamed in real time from Prague. Among the highlights were also one of the most eagerly anticipated sessions of the day looked at the latest clinical trials in IBD, where five breaking pieces of research in the field were presented. One of the first sessions of the day saw a further edition of the popular 'Mistakes in...' initiative, where participants were invited to learn what to avoid in researching, diagnosing and treating various digestive diseases.

An absolute must watch of Tuesday's offering is certainly the "What's really new in 2021? The broad view" session.

Have a look through today's final daily recaps article for a solid summary of what today had in store in terms of both scientific information and digestive health exploration.

UEG Journal update

In Monday night's UEG Week Tonight Show, we held the laudation and Award Ceremony of UEG Journal Best Paper Awardee 2021, Nicolas Richard. Want to see for yourself?
