

We understand that diversity is a strength. Here are our UEG Week sessions committed to this conversation.

Our UEG Week Virtual myUEG Community Programme provides guidance on topics relevant for your profession. Take advantage of the opportunity to both interact with experts in a more intimate setting and take the conversation from a gentle simmer to a strong boil by raising questions.

Our diversity-focused myUEG Community Programme highlights (October 3 – 5) are:
Tasty takeaways: The power of questions with... Cristina Cuerda, Vinciane Rebours, Marianna Arvanitakis & Isabelle Cleynen

Our female role models in Nutrition, Pancreatology, Interventional Endoscopy and Basic Science will share their insights so that you can snack on these tidbits whenever you need energy to take the next step on your career path.

Diversity is the spice of life: Career chat on equality in grants

This year's career chat involves the Vice-President of ERC as well as two experienced grant reviewers, for a Specialist GI Society and Horizon Europe collaborative grants, respectively.

Her recipe for success: A discussion with UEG's next President

What do you think should be on UEG's menu in the next years? Share your views and favourite ingredients with UEG leadership and learn how you can add your expertise and talent in our myUEG community.

Equity in medical care – raw realisations

Major topics on equity in medical care will be addressed – we are faced with significant differences regarding provision and availability of medical care, regarding gender, race, and geographic location.

Workplace inclusivity & overcoming career-related obstacles

Be sure to also join our Monday, October 4 UEG Week Virtual Live Session, Career beasts and how to cope with them! It will cover topics ranging from toxic workplace culture to healthy competition.

The ongoing success of our Female Role Model campaign

To remind young women in the field of digestive health that their goals are well within their reach, the Equality & Diversity Task Force launched the UEG Female Role Model Campaign on Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn and Instagram.

For this ongoing campaign, women of different ages and nationalities, and at different levels in their career and life have been happy to share their wisdom. Want to have a look at the full campaign? Check out our hashtag, #UEGWomeninGI on Twitter.
