COVID-19 & Digestive Health

ueg.eu/education

Never has it been more important to share relevant, scientific content with colleagues than during this pandemic. There is so much we need to learn about COVID-19, its effects on digestive health and how to best care for our patients.

This UEG Webinar „COVID-19 & Digestive Health” is designed to help. Watch the recording and learn more about COVID-19, IBD and endoscopy.

Stay tuned for more webinars and relevant resources in the coming weeks!

Abstract deadline extended

UEG Week is indispensable in its role of disseminating and advancing science in digestive health. As health professionals all over the world are working around the clock, we decided to postpone the abstract submission to May 15! By giving you more time to finalise your submission and by opening a new abstract topic on COVID-19 and GI we'd like to make our contribution to this difficult situation!
