

Consumption of Ultra-processed in Europeⁱ

We call for the adoption of mandatory front-of-pack labelling (FOPL) across the EU

With nutrition labelling being a timely topic at EU level, we have issued a position paper calling for mandatory front-of-pack labelling across the EU. The implementation of a simple, informative and uniform front-of-pack labelling approach plays a vital role in addressing unhealthy dietary patterns and reducing the burden of chronic digestive diseases.

Key takeaways and useful resources of our webinar on gut microbiome

On June 10 we have co-organised the webinar 'The gut microbiome-revealing the power of nutrition' together with Sarah Wiener - Member of the European Parliament for the Greens. The event, which featured UEG experts Markus Peck-Radosavljevic and Gigi Veereman, served to open a debate about the latest findings around gut health, lifestyle-related digestive conditions and the role of nutrition policies in improving health outcomes.
