

Already missing #UEGWeek?

Well, myUEG Community, we are happy to report that we aren't going anywhere!

That's right, UEG Week delegates (both in-person and virtual) can still access our virtual platform until November 17! That means unlimited access to all session and industry symposia recordings, as well as access to our poster exhibition, industry area, and virtual congress bag!

We also encourage you to check out our top session recordings now available on YouTube!

Weren't a UEG Week delegate? Our YouTube recordings as well as our 2022 UEG Week Abstract Issue and Mistakes in... digi-books are freely accessible to all!

Want to relive the congress visually? Have a look through our Facebook photo albums. If you'd like to read brief, daily summaries and gain a clear overview of the highlights, check out our Daily Recaps.

#UEGEdu: Your chance to advance!

UEG Week may have ended, but there's no need to be sad. You can succeed with UEG year-round! Nearly all UEG Education offers are free of charge, and many are CME accredited. Explore our webinars, online courses, Mistakes in... articles, Career Development recordings, and more!

While we're on the subject of free, top-tier scientific content, why not download and benefit from our frequently updated GI Guidelines App? It has over 22,500 downloads and includes nearly 30 guidelines and over 70 interactive tools to help you diagnose and treat your patients!
