

ueg

Women in GI

#UEGWomeninGI

Dear member,

There is no UEG Week without female expertise, excellence, and engagement!

#UEGWomeninGI are essential in delivering the multidisciplinary UEG Week programme, as well as bringing it to life in the many discussions, hands-on trainings, and interactive opportunities. Let your inquisitive mind revel in the latest scientific advancements and find further inspiration and empowerment by connecting with Women in GI at UEG Week, October 8 – 11, 2022!

Explore programme

#UEGWomeninGI networking opportunities at #UEGWeek!

A huge component of our myUEG Community is ensuring that Women in GI feel strengthened by both their similarities, as well as the many diversities that make them unique! We're committed to reinforcing the sense of belonging to the global digestive health community amongst female delegates of all ages and career stages. Therefore, we've thoughtfully designed networking activities that feel authentic to our female attendees and will enable them to collaborate, advance, and enhance our goal of making equality a reality.

This UEG Week, make the most of your experience and:

- Meet your peers, colleagues, and role models from across the globe at the Women in GI Spot, a dedicated, informal yet collaborative area within our myUEG Community Area onsite in Vienna.
- Network with female experts in-person via our new Connect with... #UEGWomeninGI Role Models events on-site on Sunday and Tuesday, October 9 and 11. (Further details below.)
- Secure your ticket today, then attend our sparkling new social event on occasion of UEG Week, The UEG Night, October 10 in Vienna City Hall's ballroom. (Limited tickets available! Cocktail dinner and all beverages incl. within set price of € 70 incl. VAT.)

More networking info

Our Female Role Model campaign returns! The best news? You can meet our latest Role Model in-person in Vienna!

Shira Zelber-Sagi is a clinical dietitian, epidemiologist, and researcher in nutritional epidemiology and NAFLD, and other chronic co-morbidities. She is full professor and Head of the School of Public Health, Faculty of Social Welfare and Health Sciences, University of Haifa.

In addition to Shira's inspiring words regarding finding your passion, she emphasises: "Choose your own course, not what others choose for you, all obstacles are just 'background noise' if you know what you want."

Want to meet Shira in-person? Connect with her at UEG Week 2022 via our new "Connect with Experts" networking initiative! Her specific session is "Connect with... #UEGWomeninGI Role Models", October 9 from 15:00 – 15:30. We also encourage you to meet with UEG Women in GI Role Model, Marina Berenguer, October 11, 15:00 – 15:30.

This rapidly approaching opportunity to make face-to-face connections is available exclusively for in-person UEG Week delegates.

Register for UEG Week

A TV Studio session to further fuel your ambition!

Just like the newsroom of a network station, our Vienna-based Live TV Studio will showcase exclusive, unique live formats – many of which are making their debut this year! Tune in when we interview successful women in GI on opportunities to take your stance and advance.

"Grow with us: UEG beyond UEG Week"

Join the session live in-person and virtually October 10, 16:30 – 17:00!

- For an engaging interview on female empowerment, career challenges, and enriching peer-to-peer interaction with Secretary General, Jeanin van Hooft
- To uncover opportunities beyond UEG Week such as our Clinical Visiting Fellowship as well as opportunities for young GIs with Young Talent Group Chair, Pilar Acedo
- For more on congress-related opportunities like our Top Abstract Prizes, National Scholar Award, Travel Grants, and International Scholarship Awards with UEG Treasurer, Berthold Koletzko

More on our TV Studio

My Connect – this UEG Week, get & stay connected

While enjoying the best gastroenterology congress in the world and its many networking opportunities, we encourage you to utilise My Connect, UEG's exclusive, secure networking feature, to stay in touch with international digestive health professionals. Make sure to connect with the colleagues who inspire and engage you with their latest scientific findings.

Get networking

Follow us on

United European Gastroenterology

Wickenburggasse 1, A-1080 Vienna, Austria

E: office@ueg.eu, T: +43 1997 1639

UEG Copyright 2022. All rights reserved. Use of this newsletter constitutes acceptance of the General Terms and Conditions and the Privacy Policy.